

BERLINSKI BEAT

BerlinskiBeat

Roaring Twenties & Sound of the Streets in Berlin: That's Berlinski Beat.
Seven musicians from Berlin with roots in four different countries.

The Streets of Berlin are international; Berlinski Beat renew the Roaring Twenties alike with an international flair: Berlin classics with danceable rhythms, Balkan Beats and Mariachi music. No matter if you go out clubbing or just take a walk through the Streets of Berlin: Berlinski Beat let you experience the feeling of bygone Twenties.

During Live Performance the seven multifarious characters in fashionable black and turquoise excite the audience with multicultural charm, a heady show and outstanding instruments: staged percussions, a commanding horn section and actually bagpipes and shawns become modern Indie Pop-instruments as unique eyecatcher.

The new album: Fräulein könn' Sie linksrum tanzen

„Miss, are you able to dance to the left?“ – This ambiguous question is taken from one of the classic street songs of Berlin and is best placed to name the new record (Release: 08/26/16). On the one hand they change well-known classics of Berlin, called 'Gassenhauer', in modern Partysongs, on the other hand you will find actual subjects, e.g. to perform spontaneous in the subways or to live in a construction trailer, in spirit of artists and philosophers of the Old Berlin with an impressive charme in music. Like this BerlinskiBeat is bridging the gap of Berlin Dance-music in past and present: decadence and nowadays at one stroke. BerlinskiBeat is provided at this record by two music acts: One of the most famous German Rock-musicians: Rodrigo González of the band ‚Die Ärzte‘ plays the guitar for one song and the Mexican superstars ‚Paneton Roccoco‘ contribute their passion and sound to another hit.
